

YES News & Updates

YOUTH EMPOWERMENT SERVICES NEWSLETTER

Issue 16: June 2020

BRAND NEW YES WEBSITE NOW AVAILABLE

Idaho's Youth Empowerment Services (YES) System of Care rolled out a brand new website this week. We encourage you to take a look at YES.idaho.gov.

Months in the making, this new website not only features a brand new custom look and feel, but it streamlines information into easier to locate, consolidated sites. Where users may have had to click multiple times in the past to view different project information spread across different pages, items like Frequently Asked Questions; Contacts for families, agencies, and providers; and project documentation and reports are now often included on the same page, using expanding menus to allow visitors to easily navigate, but still expand the information they are looking for

Ultimately, the new site maintains a large amount of content and information about YES, its history, and most importantly, how it can help youth and families in need, but is able to do it with significantly fewer pages. We're confident this will create an easier-to-navigate experience for youth and their families, as well as all

The new homepage

As the YES project continues, this site will continue to evolve and new information will become available, or be updated. Stay up to date and encourage others to as well by subscribing to this YES newsletter, which we aim to distribute once a month as new information becomes available.

You can always unsubscribe. You can also use read archived newsletters going back to 2018 on the website.

project stakeholders.

Our Getting Started page is a great place for Youth and Families to begin to learn more about YES.

New Idaho TCOM Institute webpage available

Review the latest project

reports

To view the May 2020

Rights and Resolutions

To view the latest QMIA

Quarterly Report.

Go to this page:

Report

The Division of Behavioral Health unveiled a new webpage dedicated to the Idaho TCOM Institute
recently. Check out Idaho TCOM Institute, and contact them if you have questions.

Tools can help stakeholders understand the practices and procedures behind the YES system of care, as well as find training and learn more about screening and other instruments.

Resources provides links to videos, training, publications in English and Spanish, and glossaries of Terms to Know to better understand the project. Additional resources available via other organizations are also included.

Submit comments and Experience Reports with YES

The partners in YES are interested in your feedback and want to hear your stories. Use the forms on this page to contact us, or submit an Experience Report about your work with YES.

About YES features background on the YES system development and its implementation, and provides information on the workgroups and stakeholders that have worked to make YES a reality. It is also where you can find YES newsletters, announcements, and contacts for families, youth, providers and more.

YES News & Updates is produced and distributed by the Division of Behavioral Health on behalf of YES partners - Idaho Department of Health and Welfare, State Department of Education and Idaho Department of Juvenile Corrections. Questions, concerns, story ideas? Contact Jon Meyer at Jonathan.Meyer@dhw.idaho.gov. Subscribe to this newsletter.